Matt Kelly – Bio

Matt works as the Principal Transportation Planner for the Contra Costa Transportation Authority (CCTA), the Congestion Management Agency and Sales Tax Authority for Contra Costa County, a county of 1.1 million residents in the San Francisco Bay Area. Matt's work focuses on implementing the Contra Costa Measure J Growth Management Program and Congestion Management Program, and maintaining the Authority's travel demand forecasting model, in addition to managing a variety of multimodal transportation studies around the County. Prior to joining CCTA in 2006, Matt worked in the Systems Planning Branch at Caltrans, District 4 in Oakland, CA. Matt is a graduate of UC Davis with a BA in Geography.